Murphy, Perkins Confer About Motors Deadlock

GOVERNOR GOES TO CAPITAL FOR STRIKE SOLUTION

Detroit Not to See F. D. Although Union, Company Officials Split

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(UP) Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan brought the General Motors strike problem to Washington today as capital and labor stood deadlocked in Detroit.

The tired executive, who saw the fruits of his week of night and day negotiations vanish in a moment, will confer with Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, who has been in communication with him throughout the 20-day old dispute. It was reported also that the "some people" Murphy said he would see, included John L. Lewis, chief of the Committee for Industrial Organization, who has masterminded labor's strategy in the strike.

It was Lewis' assertion last week that the C.I.O. would "insist" on recognition of the United Automobile Workers as "exclusive" bargaining agent for all G. M. employees that precipitated the deadlock culminating in collapse of the first bargaining conference between executives and union leaders yesterday.

Knudsen Hits Minority
William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president of General Motors, promptly reassured non-union workers that no "minority" ever would be permitted to dominate the company. Knudsen, who led a request for E. Boyesen, head of the Alliance, for a collective bargaining conference of non-union workers and corporation executives, said that he would be glad to bargain with non-union workers at a date and place unspecified and ignited union ire. Evacuation of sit-down strikers from Fisher body plants Nos. 1 and 2 — which General Motors demanded as a preliminary to negotiations was countermanded and the union announced the strikers would "hold the fort" indefinitely.

With both sides charging bad faith, Knudsen saw Homer C. Martin, president of the U. A. W., in the Detroit offices of General Motors yesterday only long enough to hand him a printed statement, denying union allegations of "double-cross" and reiterating that so long as strikers remain on General Motors property, no talks of wages, hours and working conditions could proceed.

Murphy, deeply disappointed, conferred by telephone with Miss Perkins and subsequently announced he would come to Washington.

Attention Mr. Robert Ripley!

THE NUMBER 719 certainly figures in the life of Alderman Herman L. Klein of Belvidere, Ill. To explain: for the past 10 years Klein has carried a state automobile license tag bearing the numerals 719-719. He is accustomed to these digits because his house number, telephone number, county dog tag number and city vehicle tag all bear the numerals 719. To top that off, let it be said Klein's birth was an event of the seventh month, 19th day. The strangest coincidence occurred the other day when Postmaster William McIntyre, right, delivered to Klein, left, his identification card for the social security old age pension with the account number 719.

POLICE BREAK UP STRIKE SKIRMISH AT BRIGGS PLANT

DETROIT, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Police, armed with tear gas bombs, broke up half a dozen early morning skirmishes today between pickets at the Meldrum plant of the Briggs Manufacturing company and workers who sought to enter the factory.

The encounters, in which no one was injured, occurred during a mass demonstration of approximately 1,000 pickets. The plant, which manufactures bodies for the Lincoln-Zephyr division of Ford Motor company, has been closed by sit-down strike and walkout for two weeks.

Authorities said that a worker employed in the skeleton crew still operating the plant sought to enter the main gate at 7 a. m. Pickets met him half-way across Meldrum avenue and escorted him to the opposite side of the street. This demonstration brought on a rush of other workers to the main gate. Police arrived as this group tangled with pickets and soon dispersed them.

More Than 20 Boys Hear Scouting Talk Monday

More than 20 youths met with the Scout committee of the Methodist church, Scoutmaster Irvin Leist, and a district Scout executive Monday night to make arrangements for a new troop in the church. Talks on scouting were given, games and songs were enjoyed and officials were highly pleased with the interest shown in scouting at the first meeting.

Chillicothe's Mayor Fires Another Official

Edgar B. Hess, Who Outlasted Two Safety Heads, Ousted in Contract Argument

CHILLICOTHE, Jan. 19.—Although Service Director Edgar B. Hess was discharged by Mayor James E. Ford primarily because Hess refused to sign a road-grader contract as requested by the mayor, it appeared possible today that Hess' successor, Russell H. Hampton, formally appointed by the mayor, might also refuse to sign the contract.

Hess' dismissal, effective at midnight Saturday, climaxed a more or less turbulent year as service director under Mayor Ford. Hess, however, managed to weather the storm while three safety directors successively came into office as the result of inability of two of them to work harmoniously with the mayor.

Characterizing Hess' dismissal as due to "unsatisfactory service," Mayor Ford said Monday that severance of relationships was the outgrowth of a long series of incidents in which he was "ignored" and his orders not carried out.

Mayor Cites Some Points
Among the matters cited by the mayor as causing disagreement between himself and Hess were these:

Rented motor trucks at $1.25 per hour whereas a city ordinance limits rentals of this type to a rate not to exceed 80 cents an hour.

Was told on August 17 to get busy on street-patching work and to abandon use of calcium chloride on streets. This order was ignored.

Refused or neglected to take action on many other matters called to his attention.

Finally refused to sign lease agreement calling for rentals of a motor grader from the W. W. Williams Company, Columbus, at the rate of $390.37 per month.

Mayor Ford for several weeks has been investigating the possibility of purchasing a motor grader to be paid from gasoline and automobile tax funds provided for street-repair work Hess has accompanied him on several trips.

Ford Decides On Acquisition
Last week, the mayor decided to acquire a grader with six forward and two reverse speeds. A proposition presented permitted the city to sign a one-month lease on the grader at $390.37. The purchase is slightly over $3,900.

It is understood that the mayor plans to renew the monthly contract over a period of ten months at the end of which time the company will transfer ownership of the machine to the city. By that time slightly over $3,900, the amount of the purchase, will have been paid.

This contract Hess refused to sign, contending that attorneys had informed him that it was, in effect, a purchase by installment payments and that the city has no right to make a purchase involving the expenditure of more than $500 without calling for bids and letting a contract on the basis of competitive bidding.

HOWARD HUGHES SETS NEW MARK CROSS COUNTRY

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 19.—(UP)—Howard Hughes, wealthy young sportsman and pilot, established a new transcontinental airplane record today when he set down his plane at Newark airport in less than eight hours after he left Burbank, Cal.

He took the air at 5:14 a. m. E. S. T. and required 7 hours 31 minutes to cross the country. Hughes average speed was 330 miles an hour.

Six Southend Garages Looted of Accessories

Thieves, apparently interested in rebuilding an automobile or opening an accessory store, raided six garages in the southend of Circleville Monday night taking tools, tires, inner tubes, parts.

A lock on the garage of Fred Smith, Logan street, was broken and several inner tubes hanging in the building were taken. Three tires, a generator, distributor and light bulbs were taken from the Ford car of George Iles, Logan street. Police said entrance to the building was gained through a hole in the garage door. Two five-quart cans of oil were taken from the garage of James Cook, S. Pickaway street. A lock was broken to gain entrance.

PRESIDENT MAY SWEAR TO OATH IN RAIN, SLEET

Quarter of Million to See Inaugural Services Held in Capital Wednesday

FORECAST IS PESSIMISTIC

New York and Philadelphia Policemen to Assist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(UP)—"Rain, possibly mixed with sleet or snow" was the weather forecast today for President Roosevelt's inauguration tomorrow.

The U. S. weather bureau predicted that the 250,000 visitors jammed into the national capital to witness the historic ceremony and traditional parade, would suffer from:

"Rain, possibly mixed with sleet or snow tonight and Wednesday. Colder tonight with lowest temperature about 32 degrees. Gentle to moderate north winds becoming east Wednesday."

Raining Hard Tuesday

It was raining hard in Washington today, but the dripping skies failed to dampen ardor of the thousands preparing to crowd Pennsylvania avenue tomorrow to see the president drive from the White House to the capitol to take his oath, and back again to review the inaugural parade.

The line of march was decorated with dripping red, white and blue bunting draped around large photographs of Mr. Roosevelt and Vice-President John N. Garner. Hotels and stores with windows facing the line of march were sold out in addition to the regular covered grandstands.

Hundreds of police were imported to handle the crowds. New York sent 100 men and Philadelphia 105, augmenting Washington's own force of 360 uniformed officers.

Routes 22, 104 Again Inundated

BULLETIN

Charles Mowery, highway superintendent, who has been closely watching the flood waters over Route 22, announced at 1 p. m. the river had made little change during the morning. He added since the flood waters had ceased rising the stream was at its peak and a steady drop could be expected.

Two detours on state highways in Pickaway county were still in effect Tuesday as the result of high waters.

Route 22, west of Circleville, remained closed and highway employees said Tuesday the road was under between two and three feet of water in the lowest sections. The second rise in flood waters inundated the highway about 7 p. m. Monday. Surfacing on the highway has been damaged and considerable repair work will be required before the road can be opened to traffic after the water subsides.

Darby creek overflowed Route 104 at the Dewey park bridge for the second time late Monday. This road has been damaged for a distance of about 100 feet and will remain closed until repairs can be made.

Traffic on both Routes 104 and 22 is still being detoured through Fox.

TWO ARRESTED FOR THEFT AND ARMED ROBBERY

COLUMBUS, Jan. 19.—(UP)—The state highway patrol announced today that a man and woman registered as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anderson of Cincinnati had been arrested at Titusville, Fla., and would be returned to Ohio to face charges of auto theft and armed robbery.

The couple, to be returned to Cincinnati on a charge of violating the federal auto theft act, are alleged to have stolen a car in Cincinnati, Jan. 6. They are accused also of gas station and store hold-ups at Donnellsville, Clarke county, Jan. 7, one three miles east of Dayton, Jan. 12, and a station north of Chillicothe, Jan. 15.

According to information obtained by the highway patrol the couple spent the night of Jan. 14 in a Circleville hotel after an officer had ordered them off the street when they were found sleeping in a parked car.

GAS SHUT OFF, RICH TOLEDO SUBURB SUFFERS

TOLEDO, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Police today were asked to guard 130 gas control stations as all residents of Ottawa Hills, Toledo's most exclusive suburb, faced indefinite shut off of gas service.

Possibility of line failure throughout the west end of this city of 300,000 impended on word of a likely strike by boiler men in sympathy with 400 workers of two gas companies already out.

The main valve leading into Ottawa Hills was closed unaccountably last night just before the walk-out entered its fourth day.

Deputy sheriff's guard the suburb's control shed today, while the companies asked police to assign guards to the 130 similar vital points.

Officers of the operating engineers union voted to leave their posts at 3 p. m. today. They served notice on company officials that unless licensed boiler men were dispatched to take the places of regular company workers, fires would be banked in the boilers, allowing steam pressure to subside.

I. A. Ludwig, manager of both the Ohio Fuel Gas company and the Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company, said he was assembling licensed boiler men to meet such an emergency.

PITTSBURGH AND CINCINNATI HIT BY HIGH WATER

All Cities Along 1,000-Mile Course of Stream Guard Against Flood

LEVEES STRENGTHENED

Many Indiana and Illinois Schools Abandoned

KENNETT, Mo., Jan. 19.—(UP)—The swirling St. Francis river broke through levees in five places today, endangering hundreds of lives and flooding thousands of acres of rich farming land.

Engineers in charge of repairing the levees were unable immediately to determine how many of several thousand national guards, WPA workers and volunteers had been unroofed by the rush of water.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Property owners in six states abandoned farms, residences and river-front factories to the waters of the Ohio river today before the most dangerous flood threat in 27 years.

A crest of flood waters down the river from Pennsylvania to West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois tomorrow, the two may reach the lower Ohio river simultaneously, it was feared, and spill it into yet untouched property in Indiana, Kentucky and Illinois. The most serious inundation since the devastating floods of 1913 was feared.

Entire Length in Danger

Water already lapped at the tops of protection levees along the entire 1,000 miles of the Ohio from Pittsburgh to its junction with the Mississippi at Cairo, Ill. Thousands of lowland residents have abandoned farms and homes and fled with a few possessions to upland safety. Scores of factories in Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois were shut down as water poured into cellars and first floors. Mines in southern Illinois and Indiana were flooded and inoperable.

Seven lives have been lost, three in Ohio, two in Indiana, two in Illinois. Damage to farm property, residences, factories, highways and bridges and business losses was believed to have reached $100,000.

The river was expected to reach 29 to 30 feet at Pittsburgh, where flood stage is 25 feet. At Cincinnati, where the flood stage is 52 feet, a crest of 58 to 59 feet was feared. It was expected to exceed the flood stage by six feet at Marietta, O., 10 feet at Rumsey, Ky., eight feet at Brownsville, Ky., five feet at Louisville, Ky.

Evansville, Ind., reported the river at 42 feet, seven feet over flood stage, early today but still (Continued on Page Eight)

COUNTY ABIDES BY STATE ORDER TO AID CHILDREN

Warnings issued to Ohio counties Tuesday by the state division of public assistance, administrative agent for aid to dependent children under the federal-state social security program, to make ample provisions in their budgets for local participation, does not affect Pickaway county.

Commissioners in their budget for 1937 appropriated $9,000 for aid to needy children of the county, a fund formerly listed as mothers' pensions. The budget items also include a $250 appropriation for aid to dependent children and the same amount for aid to dependent crippled children.

The security program calls for participation in the support of children by the state, county and federal government, with the county asked to pay only one-fourth to one-half.

CONVICT, 47, WRITES KIDNAP LETTERS

Notes Sought $35,000 From Jane Withers and Freddie Bartholomew

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Dave Harris, weazened 47-year-old two-time loser to the law, today faced another prison term, this time for attempting to extort $35,000 from Jane Withers and Freddie Bartholomew, child movie stars. Harris surrendered last night because his conscience bothered him.

"I was hungry and I figured it was a way to make some easy money," Harris explained to police and federal agents. "But I guess I'm in a jam now."

If Harris was worried, however, his manner didn't indicate it. He grinned amiably at the officers, readily admitted authorship of the letters he sent Mrs. W. E. Withers, Jane's mother, and Mrs. Lillian May Bartholomew, Freddie's mother, and seemed pleased that the constant fear of arrest had been lifted.

Picked On Little Ones
Harris, who weighs about 90 pounds and is four feet eight inches tall, explained he "picked on little people because I'm a little guy myself." He demanded $25,000 from Mrs. Bartholomew and $10,000 from Mrs. Withers. The letters were written a month ago and were sent both to the children themselves and to the parents. Studio officials turned them over to police and the FBI.

"If you don't want us to get your kid put in the money in a shoe box. If one of us is caught the rest will finish the job," read the $25,000 demand sent to Mrs. Bartholomew, whose 12-year-old son is one of the higher money bracket juvenile stars. The note was signed "The Ace of Spades."

"How about the others you intimidated were in the gang?" asked John H. Hanson, local head of the FBI, who stepped into the case after Harris surrendered to Detective Ray Radcliffe.

"There wasn't any gang," Harris said. "I was just sitting over at the Voluntarys of America home when I got the idea. I didn't have much to eat and these clothes were pretty threadbare. It looked like easy money. I'm the whole gang. I got a sister in Los Angeles, but she isn't in it in any way and I'm not dragging her in."

THEATRES

AT THE CIRCLE

"Football was never like this!" So declared three famous American gridiron stars at the conclusion of the realistic crowd fight shown in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Fury," co-starring Sylvia Sydney and Spencer Tracy, and now playing at the Circle Theatre.

The three varsity athletes—Julie Beskos, Oscar "Dutch" Hendrian and Roger "Rhino" Gray—were among thirty men who nursed cuts and bruises after the wholesale demonstration of assault and battery in the stirring photoplay, based on an original story by Norman Krasna.

Clubs, rifle butts, fists, rocks, tear gas and even a fire hose, turned wide open, were the assorted weapons in use during the melee. Director Fritz Lang took the scene three times, urging the participants to "swing hard." Beskos was knocked down and trampled. Hendrian was bowled over by an accidental blow from a heavy rifle barrel. Struck full in the face by the stream from the fire hose, Gray was half drowned during the last "take" of the scene.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Asta has become a dramatic actor.

The little wire hair terrier who brazenly "stole" scenes from William Powell and Myrna Loy in "The Thin Man," is again playing himself in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sequel, "After the Thin Man," which closes tonight at the Cliftona theatre.

Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett wrote a real role for the Dashiell Hammett mystery for Asta. He has been learning his lines for the past several months under the direction of his owner, Henry East.

According to Oregon law, the loser in a gambling game in that state may sue and recover from the winner double the amount he lost.

Chevrolet Workers Mass to Protest Enforced Idleness

MORE than 9,000 men, virtually the entire personnel of the Chevrolet Gear and Axle Division of General Motors Corporation, staged a demonstration last week against the strikes which have shut down General Motors plants and thrown out of work nearly 135,000 workers. The demonstration shown above occurred at the main plant of the Division's four units in Detroit. The employees assembled after this demonstration to receive their pay checks, their last pay until the resumption of operations.

The employees' committee voted to publicize their opposition to the strike through personal telegrams to Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan and to President Roosevelt. The mass demonstration of protest was held under banners carrying these legends: "We don't want a strike," "We want our jobs back," "We object to minority rule," and "No labor dictators for us." In order to alleviate distress, the Corporation proposes to resume operations on a reduced basis in plants not shut down as a result these strikes.

Ashville's Ex-Postmaster Now "Real Dirt Farmer"

Henry Snyder Reared on Farm, Knows All About
'Dobbin', Other Details

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

"I'm a really dirt farmer now, working early and late and like it," said our once Postmaster Henry Snyder, yesterday. Henry said he was reared on the farm and knew all about farm work then and he and "old Dobbin" with the use of a single shovel plow, could make a furrow across a ten-acre field so straight that the corn never got tangled up and fell down as it does now. "A farm life for me" he said as he hurried away to look after a ditch that had "got full" out on the farm.

Firemen Need Ladder
Bill Cloud, our fire chief, says the old fire engine and all the equipment is in the pink of condition and rarin' to go. "The fire alarm bell" he said is yet up in its place as it has been for years, but in case one should want to ring it, it would take an hour to get up to it. He thinks a good, stout, 40-foot ladder hanging around somewhere in the neighborhood of the bell, would be a mighty fine thing just in the event a fire alarm would need to be sounded. A good strong rope, though, might answer the purpose just as well if we had one.

Wheel Back Home
Brought home the wheel, equal to several dollars' worth of bacon. When once it was definitely known that young Pence, according to his own statement, had taken the Ray Kraft bicycle and had sold it for five dollars to a father for his son, near Jackson, a trip was made there by deputy sheriff Miller Fissell, our Mayor Harry Margulus and Squire Sherman Hoover, accompanied by the seller of the wheel, Pence himself. There was no great argument to it, it was a plain case of investing a five in stolen property and the wheel was surrendered to the officers and brought home to its owner Ray Kraft, who wears a good part of that pleased smile yet.

New Village Church

Twist of Wrist Needed
"You see, it's the simple twist of wrist and the courage to stay at it, is what makes a good corn husker." Sam Hummel said to us yesterday when telling of how he had shucked 1200 bushels of corn during the husking season "and I would be at it yet if the corn hadn't got all," he said. Sam is 82 years old and hopes to stick it out to the century mark and still be able to show the boys how to husk corn.

Village council was in session last night and "did nothing but pay bills and very few of them." Leon Taylor, clerk, said after the session had closed. Next meeting will be Monday night, February 1.

Bing's associates in the Music

Hall are speculating wildly as to what will happen when Rose Bampton returns to the broadcast over the NBC red network at 10 P. M. The last time Miss Bampton was in the Music Hall, she astonished her audience which expected only the heights of grand opera from her by singing "I'm An Old Cowhand," adding, "Bing taught me how to swing it."

The first time she was scheduled for the variety hour, she went to the Hollywood studios looking for Crosby. "I saw a chap," she said, "in corduroy trousers and sweater, moving a piano, and when he had finished, he asked one of the group, 'has anyone seen Bampton?' I walked in and said, 'I'm Bampton.' He took off his cap and said, 'Hiya, Rose—I'm Bing Crosby.' That's the sort of chap he is—affable, homey and regular as can be."

Course for Boy Scout Leaders Opens Jan. 21

A leadership training course, designed to be of interest to all men, will begin Thursday, January 21, and meet on successive Thursday evenings, at 7:30 at Memorial Hall. Robert Terhune, commissioner for the Pickaway district, Boy Scouts of America, has announced details in a letter to men interested in Scouting in Circleville and throughout the county.

Fathers, church school workers, teachers, and others who work with young people, will find the course helpful. Enrollment is open to all men 18 years old or over. The object of the training sessions is to disclose and develop new and better methods to build boys into men of good character and citizenship. The course will include a study of the nature of boys and their activity urges and a review of the aims and methods of education. Particular emphasis will be placed on the basic methods of the Scout program.

Additional information may be obtained from Terhune or Smith or at the first session this Thursday evening at Memorial Hall.

Jim Smith, Jr., chairman of the Pickaway district, Boy Scouts, declared today that this is the first time such an opportunity has been offered to local Scouters for several years. Each week a special speaker will address the group on a subject with which he is especially familiar. Sessions will include opportunity for discussion, in addition to activities and talks. Practical suggestions concerning the handling of groups of boys and directing their activities will be offered. Students taking the course will not only be told about methods but will take part in the actual demonstration of games, Boy Scout technique, and similar activities.

The training course is being sponsored by the Pickaway district, Boy Scouts of America, under the auspices of the Central Ohio Area Council. Certificates, issued by the National Council, Boy Scouts, will be awarded to all who complete the course. Attendance is the principal requirement of graduation. The course has been approved by the educational service of the national organization and was developed by the Council Training Committee, headed by Dean Herschel Nisonger of the Adult Education Department of Ohio State University.

Participation in the training course does not obligate service in the organization, Terhune said today. Howard Kautz, field executive, will cooperate with Terhune in arranging for the course. Many local citizens have endorsed the project and local Scout officials are anxious to have all local Scouters enroll. The course will be given free of charge, with all materials and speakers furnished by the local Council.

Additional information may be obtained from Terhune or Smith or at the first session this Thursday evening at Memorial Hall.

Queer Thoughts for Her Biggest Moment

Light streaming through the lace curtains pointed up the clean shabbiness of the worn carpet where so many other couples had stood like these two. Janet turned her head slightly, saw Joel standing straight and solemn by her side and thought: this is my background; Joel doesn't belong here. I was brought up in a home like this and I expected to end my life in just such a home. But this is not for Joel. Oh, make me a good wife, the right wife for him! And she hardly heard the minister's words. . . .

PACIFIST CITES PERILS FACING U. S. IN PACIFIC

Collective Security Urged
By British Author to Replace Isolation

THREE POLICIES POSSIBLE
Hope of Stopping Japanese
May be Abandoned

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19 — (UP) — The United States has only three possible policies in the Pacific, according to W. Arnold Forster, technical advisor to Britain's Peace Movement, and co-author with Sir Norman Angell,
Prof. Gilbert Murray and Lord
Robert Cecil of the book "Intelligent Man's Way to Prevent War."
Forster is touring the United States to revive interest in disarmament and also to arouse a popular demand for collective security as a means of preventing war.

As regards America's policy in the Pacific, Forster declared the three alternatives are:
1—To abandon all idea of restraining Japan's militarists from doing whatever they will in Asia and the Western Pacific, and reduce the American navy to a coastal defense unit.

2—To maintain the traditional policy of seeking to defend certain agreed principles of peace and commercial opportunity in China, such as the Open Door Policy,
even against Japan if necessary.

3—To maintain a long-range navy, as efficient as possible for trans-Pacific service, answering menace with counter-menace, but with fort, but making no attempt to enlist the powers to defend an agreed rule of peace.

Peril Seen In Isolation
Forster said that he would not presume to suggest which of the first two policies might be better for the United States, but insisted that the third one, which combines all the dangers of isolation and of "interventionist non-intervention," must be the wrong one not only for the United States but for Europe as well.

Forster declared that the armament race, which was conceded to be one of the principal causes of the World War, has reached proportions that are of the most alarming character. During the six years of that arms race before 1914, he said that nations as a whole merely increased armaments expenditure by about $785-000,000 within two years. But in the 1932-35 period the expenditure was about $1,000,000,000.

"Three years after the 1932 disarmament conference began," he said, "the world was spending at least double what it spent before the conference convened. Still more important is the increase in striking power and especially the power to strike a sudden and devastating blow at long range.

Forster said that during the World War, the greatest number of airplanes that ever reached London at one time was 22, starting fires in five different places.
The recent perfection of an incidinary bomb, he believes, creates an entirely new problem for urban mankind.

Favors Collective Security
As the representative of the British Peace Movement, Forster is still an ardent advocate of collective security as the only means of safeguarding the world against war. He frankly places the blame for the breakdown of the League of Nations machinery on the failure of Great Britain to take a definite stand in the Japanese-Manchurian and Italian-Ethiopian affairs as well as the European nations to respond favorably to the Hoover plan of June, 1932, or the Roosevelt plan of May, 1933.

As to the present arms race,
Forster declared there are two questions to which every nation should be called upon to respond.
The first is whether armaments are being built for enforcing collective security or whether they are being amassed for the private use of each nation concerned.
He believes if the latter premise is true, nothing can save the world from another disaster similar to that of 1914-18.

sheep soon may be complying with

The 3-Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with warm cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute
—direct to the irritated air-passages.
This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves inflammation—helps break congestion.

LEE OF VIRGINIA

"F," in chronology covers the door to which we find no key. What would have been the place in history of the white knight of the Confederacy had Grant's sword been tendered to Robert E. Lee at Appomattox or, let us say, at Georgetown? Lee passed out of history in defeat on that April day in 1865. He was to live another five years in gentleness and honor and service, the only way that he knew to live. These are five years that interest the biographer and the student but not history. That is concerned almost in entirety with Lee, the General, whose life work is crowded into the campaigns of slightly less than four years in Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

If Wallenstein instead of the Swedes had won at Lutzen we know with measurable certainty that his personal career would have ended differently. Give Tours to the Paynim instead of to Charles Martel, and the latter would be a nonentity in history today. William the Norman had to win Hastings to storm the ages as the conqueror and make 1066 a date instead of a year. History is replete with ifs of that nature.

Looking back on the character of Lee, born 130 years ago today, history can conceive of no difference that would have been created by victory instead of defeat. Lee lost. In defeat, his ability and his achievements seem no less than in victory. History would have altered had the Stars and Bars triumphed instead of the Stars and Stripes. There would be no difference in the chivalrous leader.

He was a great man in the field to which he devoted talents of a high order. He was greater still as a man, a character that stands unblemished to all scrutiny, a devotion to duty unaffected by hardship, adversity or distress. We shall seldom look upon his like again.

WATCHING UNIVERSE

"LET those who wish the world go by; as for us, we watch the universe go by in curved infinity."

So the astronomers seem to say. And, if you like it, what an occupation it must be. To sit, say, at the biggest telescopic eye in the world, as does Dr. Edwin Hubble, high up on Mt. Wilson, California, where the Carnegie Institute has its observatory, and view the stars at such astronomical distances as 3,000,000,000,000,000 miles. Perhaps echoes of political bickering occasionally come up from the capitals of the world. Perhaps a word or two drifts in now and then from some dictator who professes to be the God-inspired leader of his people. Or, maybe a word or two from less distinguished jingoes than dictators are wont to be. But the watcher of the universe does not have to listen. He has some 900,000,000,000,000 stars to watch in their coming and goings.

World At A Glance

Sit-down strikes are reported to be regarded by employers as a particularly malignant development in labor warfare.

Congress, the administration and the District of Columbia authorities, however, vastly prefer them to marches of malcontents upon the national capital.

The longer a discontented element will sit down at a long distance from the Potomac and stay there the better official Washington likes it.

Nevertheless threats are heard of a series of treks in this direction from far-away points throughout the country of these protesting folk converging thitherward.

From the White House on down to the city police force these hints give the shivers to the powers they are intended, in plain terms, to intimidate.

COXEY'S WAS FIRST

So far as I know, the capitalward march of General Coxe's army was the first of these demonstrations.

It was so far in the past that I don't remember much of it. I think it was an incident of the session of the early 1890's. My recollection is that the Capitol police were formidable enough to shoo the army back from their grounds and prevent a serious disturbance.

Still, such displays are semi-revolutionary in tone; they frighten conservative statesmen.

THEN—DURING DEPRESSION

There was not another big one until some time after the industrial smash-up of 1929, when Father Cox, a Roman Catholic clergyman in Pittsburgh, led a huge delegation from many parts of the republic to the Capitol Plaza to demand proletarian rights from the lawmakers.

I remember that all right. Congress was alarmed a plenty. The Capitol building was barricaded as if for a siege. Only small groups were allowed to get in, to submit their grievances, but the rest milled about on the grounds outside, which is strictly forbidden. The police, however, were afraid to scatter them.

THE BONUS BATTLE

Then came the bonus encampment, against which President Hoover called out the United States army.

The army won, indeed, but I miss my guess if its victory did not do

SKIDS GREASED TO OUST MORGAN

WASHINGTON — The skids are being greased for an early exit by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, the President's pet project.

Morgan's term still has five years to run, and if he refuses to go there is no way of forcing him out, short of abolishing his office. But White House insiders, who know what they are talking about, privately predict that he will soon depart.

If Morgan doesn't quit, it won't be because of lack of encouragement.

The President is displeased with him. Senator George Norris, father of the TVA, publicly rebuked Morgan a few days ago, and Morgan's two TVA colleagues have been at loggerheads with him for months.

The inner Administration resentment against Morgan and the desire to get rid of him has three causes:

(1) His truculent espousal of the power pool scheme. This plan, under which private and TVA power production would be pooled and operated by a joint management, is vehemently opposed by Norris and Administration liberals. The President has taken no public stand on the bitterly controversial issue, and is deeply pained with Morgan over his insistence on waging a determined drive for the proposal even though it is not a White House policy.

(2) Morgan's friendliness with certain potent power representatives. Louis B. Wright, New York corporation lawyer and a leading advocate of the pool plan, has been intimate with Morgan for months.

(3) Morgan's violent jealousy of Harcourt A. Morgan and David A. Lilienthal, the other two TVA directors, and his inability to work with them in harmony.

OBSESSION

Morgan's hostility to his two colleagues amounts to an obsession.

He has accused them of conspiring against him, of failing to give him the respect due his position, and of being "impractical enthusiasts."

Last spring, when Lilienthal was up for re-appointment, Morgan went to the President and threatened to resign if his younger colleague was renominated. Roosevelt gave Lilienthal a new nine-year term, but Morgan did not quit.

LAST STRAW

While disgusted with Morgan's attitude, Norris and the Administration liberals overlooked this because of their belief in his sincerity.

His persistent and militant espousal of the power pool and his friendliness with utility leaders, however, aroused their anger and finally their active hostility. This came to a head a few days ago with the discovery of an unpublished speech that Morgan made December 30, 1936, before the American Economics Association.

No copies were given out and requests for it were refused at Morgan's office.

Mussolini in it, is such a trifling speck when one watches the universe. The astronomers might give a telescope party for the dictators and see whether they, too, could acquire a proper sense of proportions by watching the universe go by.

How Much Milk Should Peeps Drink?

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EVERYONE now recognizes the importance of milk in nutrition. For children, it is the staple. For adults, Doctor Tobey has suggested that "the fountain of youth is filled with clean pure milk."

The number of milk a healthy adult should consume is a matter of some controversy. The adult population drinks any milk regularly.

There is probably a reason for this. Many investigators have found that the hydrochloric acid which is a regular part of the digestive juice of the stomach, becomes less and less in most healthy people as time goes on. The large amount of alkaline substance in milk may make the adult instinctively avoid it. In those countries in which a large amount of milk is consumed by adults, it is notable that they do not always use whole fresh milk, but are inclined to use soured milk, buttermilk, skimmed milk, or various kinds of cheese.

This again accounts for the liking which adults and middle-aged people show for buttermilk. It is instinctive. And it is a very good food in cases of decreased acidity of the stomach, because the condition favors the development of various bacteria in the intestines. Indeed, some investigators think that the growth of these bacteria produces toxins which tend to cause the degenerative diseases of late middle age.

So let the buttermilk or acidophilus milk user alone. Man is the only animal that uses milk after the period of infancy.

Children should have a quart of milk a day, according to all health authorities.

If so—if this is the actual supply, and it probably is—that cuts the adult consumption down considerably. Except as used in cooking, probably less than half the adult population drinks any milk regularly.

The BLOODHOUNDS BAY

By WALTER S. MASTERMAN

CHAPTER 53

JAMES' face assumed a sallow color as Selden told of James coming home on the ill-fated P. & O. boat from India with his master, Henry Severing, and the latter's friend, Colonel Graham. His hands trembled, but Selden went on in a cold impassive voice.

"The Lucknow went down in a gale off the Casquet rocks, with terrible loss of life. The boats that were launched were smashed to pieces, and only the arrival of a 'tanker' which was able to throw a life-line by means of a rocket over the vessel saved a few survivors, among whom were the three I have mentioned."

"Colonel Graham shortly afterwards threw up his commission and came to settle down at Paynton Manor, and you know the story of Sir Henry and James."

"So far had we got, and there was little doubt that the sudden wealth must have had some connection with this wreck. I asked my man to find out all he could about the other passengers, and received his information only yesterday. It is conclusive."

"On the same boat there was a rich tea planter who was coming home with his young wife, then shortly to become a mother. He had brought all his money with him—a very big fortune—in bonds, and had boasted about it on the vessel. He was drowned, but his wife was saved, half mad with grief. She seems to have told the authorities that her husband had all this money, and that she was penniless, but in her distracted condition little notice was taken of this statement, though it was recorded at the time. With her on the boat were the maid and valet, who had copied their master's example and been married before leaving Assam. Their names were given as Sarah French (maid) and John Brown (valet) in the list, but inquiries at Assam show that they were man and wife."

"By a lucky chance, my man was able to get hold of an old newspaper photograph of some of the survivors, with the names." Selden took from his papers a faded newspaper, and spread it out.

"There are the two servants, with the names given, and in spite of Hucks' broken nose and his wife's pince-nez, that she always wore, and the passage of time, it is not difficult to recognize these two as Mr. and Mrs. Hucks."

He passed the paper round to the astonished listeners, who viewed it in complete silence, waiting for the rest.

"There are gaps, of course, but I have no shadow of doubt in my mind that these two servants suspected that Severing and Graham had stolen their master's money and had followed them up with implacable hatred and have finally taken their revenge on both Sir Henry and Colonel Graham—he looked straight at James—for the theft, and probably the murder of their master, Henry Scott."

A strangled cry came from James, who had half risen to his feet, and Hutchins forced him back into his chair.

"Colonel Graham dead!" His immobility had gone, and he shook like a man with palsy.

"He was burnt to death in his own strong room," Selden said solemnly. "Now, perhaps, James, you will tell us the truth."

The butler sank to his seat with a sob, and covered his face with his hands. They waited for him to recover, feeling that at last a revelation would be made that would clear up the mystery. He lifted his head with a muttered apology, but he looked old and worn.

"I can speak now, sir," he addressed Selden. "Now that Colonel Graham is dead, the promise which I swore to him no longer holds good."

"Mr. Selden has got so near to the truth that there is little that I can add. It's quite right what he says about the wreck. Whether my poor master and Colonel Graham had any idea of stealing the money before the wreck took place I can't say."

"We joined the vessel at Karachi, and Mr. Scott and his wife were already on board. Mr. Scott soon became friendly with Mr. Severing and the Colonel, and I heard them discussing their affairs many times together. He said that he never trusted banks, and had converted all his fortune into bearer bonds, and had placed them in charge of the purser. When we struck the rocks and everyone was wondering what was going to happen, Mr. Scott and the Colonel got hold of the purser, and obtained the leather case which contained the money. I saw it slung round Mr. Scott's shoulders when we were clinging to the deck."

"There was a rush for the boats, but some could not be launched, and others were smashed. Those that were able to be launched were life-line was fastened to the mast, there were few of us left, and Mr. Scott put his wife into the 'cradle' with the maid. When the cradle came back there was an ugly rush for it. The valet of Mr. Scott, named Brown, tried to force his way in, and Colonel Graham drew his revolver and shot him down. I thought at the time that it was merely to save the lives of the women, but afterwards I came to a different conclusion."

"They got the women off, and then put this man into the cradle unconscious, and we four were left till last. I thought it was rather fine of them at the time. They pushed me in, and I got safe across, and at last Mr. Severing and the Colonel came. They reported that Mr. Scott had slipped off the rope and had been drowned, but Mr. Severing was carrying the case over his back by a strap."

"But surely you would have known the servant again?" Selden asked searchingly.

"I never saw them on the boat. They looked after Mrs. Scott in their cabin, but on account of her condition we never went there, and Mr. Scott used to come to the Colonel's cabin and talk there or in the smoking room. I only knew them by name, and took no particular notice of either of them."

"On the tanker there was a lot of confusion, the maid had gone below to look after her mistress, and the man had been taken to the sick bay. When we got to Southampton, Mr. Severing and Colonel Graham hurried off to London, and left me behind to find out what had happened to Mrs. Scott. She had been taken to hospital, where she gave birth to a son, and I returned and reported it to my master. We lost all trace of her afterwards, but I know Sir Henry, as he had become, endeavored to find out."

"I can tell you a little," Selden said sternly. "The shock of her husband's death and the loss of all her money temporarily deranged her. We traced the poor woman's movements from the hospital records. She had been transferred to a home at Wimbledon, and one day she disappeared with guns at the neighbors across the boundary.

China, the most poorly armed of nations, discovered gun powder. But it forgot to patent the idea.

Helen Steele Becomes Bride of Robert Pickens

Home Is Scene of Monday Evening Ceremony

At a home wedding marked by quiet simplicity, Miss Helen Steele, daughter of Mrs. Florence Steele, S. Scioto street, became the bride of Mr. Robert Pickens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denny Pickens, Monday evening at eight o'clock.

Preceding the wedding service, Miss Estelle Grimes played a program of pre-nuptial music using the same numbers which she had played at the wedding of the bride's mother.

The mantle in the living room had been transformed into an improvised altar with ferns and vines, interspersed with gleaming candles. Before this the ceremony was performed with the Rev. Emil Toensmeier, officiating. The single ring service was used.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Steele, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were their only attendants. The bride chose for her wedding an attractive dress of pink taffeta, and wore a shoulder bouquet of carnations and hyacinths.

Immediately following the ceremony, a buffet lunch was served in the dining room. The table was lace-covered, the silver service softly gleaming in the light of pink candles in silver holders. A large wedding cake was cut and served by the bride. Wedding bells of ice cream, in individual molds, and coffee were served.

Mrs. Pickens was graduated from Circleville high school in 1927, and is a graduate of the Nurses' Training School of Mt. Carmel hospital. Recently she has been a nurse at Berger hospital.

Mr. Pickens was graduated from Circleville high school, and attended Notre Dame. He is associated in business with his father. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Pickens will reside at the home of the bridegroom's parents in Watt street for the present.

Hulse and Patrick Expected to be Matched

Twenty Circleville and Pickaway county youths exchanged punches Monday night on the C. A. C. canvas in the first round of the Amateur boxing tournament.

Results of the contests were:

Jack Thompson, 100 lbs., Jackson township, defeated Paul Williams, 89 lbs., Circleville, in a four rounder.

Virgil Devors, 98 lbs., Jackson, knocked out Earl Tate, 96 lbs., Circleville, in the second round.

Bobby Barnes, 86 lbs., Circleville, defeated Silas Phelps, 90 lbs., of Williamsport, decision in three rounds.

Morris Wins Kayo

Robert Alexander, 110 lbs., Jackson, was defeated by Don Morris, 112 lbs., Circleville, with a technical knockout at the end of the first round.

George Clifton, 118 lbs., and Edgar Haynes, 118 lbs., both of Circleville, fought a four-rounder to a draw.

Scott Cardiff, 118 lbs., Jackson, won decision over Clarence Sawyer, 118 lbs., Circleville, in a three-round scrap.

Paul Kennedy, 130 lbs., Jackson, defeated Joe Arledge, 135 lbs., Circleville, with a technical knockout at the end of the second round.

Bob Denny, 139 lbs., defeated Ray Streets, 145 lbs., with a knockout in the first round. Both youths live in Circleville.

Charles Merriman, 148 lbs., Circleville, won decision in his three round bout with Casey Kennedy, 151 lbs., Jackson township.

Gay Conrad, 156 lbs., Circleville, knocked out Charles Starkey, 158 lbs., also of Circleville, in the second round.

Richard Williamson, 146 lbs., Jackson, failed to appear for his bout scheduled with Gene Arledge, 140 lbs., of Circleville, forfeiting the bout to Arledge.

Finals of the tournament will be punched out next week with the feature bout bringing together Shirley Hulse, Jackson township, and Homer Patrick, Walnut township.

Numerous changes were made in the original program as scheduled for Monday night. So far the lineup for next week has not been announced.

Taller and Longer Reach

Thompson won a decision over Williams after four rounds of fast slugging and the crowd disagreed with the decision. Thompson was much the taller and had a longer reach than Williams. The judges announced a draw at the end of three rounds and the fourth was given Thompson. The boys put on one of the best bouts of the evening.

In the second bout Devors took the first round easily and ended the battle with a knockout in the second round. Neither Barnes nor Phelps hurt each other in their three rounder. Barnes, who was more experienced than his opponent, won the judge's decision.

Alexander and Morris started their encounter slinging haymakers and at the end of the first round Alexander was on the floor with a bleeding nose. The sponge was tossed in.

Clifton and Haynes worked out on each others' countenances for four rounds and still the judges could not make up their minds so

OHIO UNIVERSITY
CAGERS PLAYING
IRON-MAN ROLES

ATHENS, Jan. 19 — Ohio university's iron chested basketball team that has played through three Buckeye Conference victories with out a substitution, will wind up the first half of its league schedule with games with Dayton and Marshall this week.

Tuesday night, Jan. 19, the high-flying Bobcats, averaging better than a point-a-minute in winning nine of their 11 games, will meet the sophomore Dayton Flyers here. On Saturday, Jan. 23, they travel to Huntington for a crucial game with Marshall.

Though the Ohio players are not taking Dayton lightly, most of their attention is being focused on the scrap with Marshall that might very well decide the Buckeye race this winter. Ohio and Marshall are top-heavy favorites to don the title toga at the end of the season's play, and the winner of the game at Huntington Saturday night will have a decided edge in the scramble for the crown now held jointly by Ohio Wesleyan and Cincinnati.

Last year when the present Ohio players were sophomores they defeated both Dayton and Marshall on each of the two occasions that these two teams were met. In each of the four battles Nick Lalich, all-Ohio center, was the Bobcats' heavy scorer with 47 points in two games against the Herd and 38 in the two tilts with the Flyers.

Lalich will be back in the game against these two outfits this year.

9,700 WITNESS
VINES' VICTORY
OVER BRITISHER

BOSTON, Jan. 19 — (UP) — Ellsworth Vines, California favorite, defeated Fred Perry, of England, in the sixth match of their current professional tour before a crowd of 9,700 at Boston Garden last night. The victory evened the series at three all.

The score was 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

they called it a draw and another bout will be arranged. Both youths fought hard and steadily and were worn out when the bout ended.

Knee Provides Defense

The Cardiff-Sawyer bout was featured with heavy slugging but neither boy was seriously battered. In the final round Cardiff worked on Sawyer's side and Sawyer used his knee for a guard.

Kennedy took the first round of his bout with Arledge easily and in the second round put Arledge on the floor twice. The bout ended at the end of the second round with a technical knockout.

Streets was matched against a tough batter in Bob Denny, brother of Sherman Denny, experienced local boxer who has been coaching some of the high school youths for the tournament. They sailed into each other with heavy punches and the bout ended in the first round when Denny connected with Streets' jaw.

Merriman knocked Kennedy down once in the first round but the Jackson township youth stayed the three rounds. Conrad put Starkey on the floor in the first round of their bout, the last of the evening, and knocked him out in the second round.

Ralph Wallace was referee and Bill Pickens did the announcing. The crowd was fair-sized.

Sub Center's Bat-in Shot
Scores Upset Over Fast
Purdue Quintet

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 — (UP) — Purdue and Illinois, new co-leaders in the tightest Big Ten basketball campaign of recent years, dug in today for a long siege over the 1937 championship.

Shaking Purdue's month-long rule with a surprising last minute victory over them last night, Illinois jumped into a first place tie and became a strong favorite for the title.

A rebound shot by Hale Swanson, substitute center, defeated Purdue, 38 to 37, after Louie Boudreau of Illinois had missed two free throw attempts in the final minute of play.

Ohio State Bumped

Michigan gained third place with an overtime victory over Chicago, 35 to 29. Indiana came back after two defeats and dropped Ohio State from the undefeated class, 43 to 36. Wisconsin defeated Iowa, 29 to 23, and Minnesota upset Northwestern, 36 to 23.

Victory for the Illini, their fourth in a row, left them in position to gain an undisputed lead before the halfway mark at the end of the first semester. Illinois meets Chicago at Champaign Saturday, but Purdue is idle.

For a full hall, the Boilermakers turned their fifth conference game into a rout and led 23 to 11 at the end of the first period. Illinois appeared completely outclassed. But the Illini roughed up the game in the second half, speeded up their attack and caught Purdue unprepared.

SCOT BATTLES AMERICAN FOR
"FLY" HONORS

LONDON, Jan. 19 — (UP) — The Scotsman Benny Lynch and Small Montana, Filipino-American, battle 15 rounds, or less, at Wembley stadium tonight, for undisputed claim to the world's flyweight boxing title.

The British recognize Lynch as the world champion with his win over Jackie Brown, while the United States believes Montana's triumph over Midget Wolgast merits him the title. Boxing control boards of both nations, however, have agreed to recognize tonight's fight as for the championship.

ASHVILLE BOYS
WIN 44-13 GAME;
GIRLS IN DANGER

Ashville girls, rated one of the best teams in the county, had a real struggle on their own court Monday evening when Darby township's lassies put on the pressure in a 21-20 game.

Darby led nearly the whole way, but could not keep up its pace, the pendulum turning toward Ashville in the last few minutes of play.

Ashville boys continued their speed by turning back the Darby youths by a 44-13 score. Both teams used entire squads during the encounter.

The Red and Black goes to Marysville Wednesday evening instead of Tuesday, because Jerry Kingsmore could not get the gymnasium at Marysville Tuesday.

Ashville at Pickaway

The big game in the county loop this week is at Pickaway Friday evening when Ashville travels to the bailiwick of the Pirates.

Both boys' teams are on the trail of Scioto's leading outfit and are waiting to take advantage of any slip the Commercial Pointers might make. — This winner of the girls' game may rate No. 1 in the race for The Herald's trophy, now held by Darby township. — It is entirely possible both trophies given by The Herald will have new homes this year. — Darby girls are definitely out of any chance for the league leadership; that means a new girls' team will take the honor. — Ashville boys, winners last year, are now behind Scioto and have another tough one Friday at Pickaway so they may be forced to surrender the trophy they won a year ago.

Other Games Booked

Other county frays Friday include Washington at New Holland. Perry at Deer Creek, Jackson at Walnut, Salt Creek at Muhlenberg, Monroe at Scioto.

Big Ten Race Open

Defeat of Purdue by Illinois, Indiana by Purdue, and Ohio State by Indiana means that the Big Ten race is an open one this year. — Purdue remains the favorite despite its last-minute bumping at the hands of Doug Mills' fighting Illini — Ohio State, it appears, is just another basketball team, but more interesting perhaps than Buck squads of recent years.

REDUCTION IN NUMBER OF LOANS SHOWS FARMERS "BACK ON FEET"

NATIONAL FARM BOARD MEMBERS CONFER MONDAY

12 Applications Received By Officials in Last Year, Showing Reduction

MAY RE-NAMED PRESIDENT

T. W. Bates, Harry Briggs Speak on Federal System

Pickaway county farmers are "getting back on their feet" financially.

This was clearly shown Monday in the report of Miss Ethel Brobst, secretary-treasurer of the Pickaway County National Farm Loan Assn., presented at the annual meeting of stockholders Monday afternoon in the trustees' room in Memorial Hall.

Sixty persons attended the meeting. During 1936 the organization received 12 applications for loans totalling $61,400. Federal Land Bank loans closed during the period were six, amounting to $21,400. Six land bank commissioner loans were closed during the year amounting to $11,700. Nine applications asking $47,700 were rejected or cancelled and one application for $1,900 was pending on Dec. 31.

21 Asked in 1935 In 1935 the organization received 21 applications amounting to $120,300 and closed 34 for a total of $115,000. In presenting the report Miss Brobst explained several applications were carried over from 1934 to 1935 and from 1935 to 1936.

Since the association was organized in 1924 the total loans closed to date amount to $1,166,400. This amount includes 159 Federal Land Bank loans for $844,400 and 118 Land Bank Commissioner loans totalling $322,000. Loans paid off to date amount to $85,500.

R. E. May, Circleville township; E. H. Fetherolf, Salt Creek township; H. C. Hines, and Ira Fisher, Walnut township, were re-elected as directors for 1937 and Wayne Brown, Madison township, was elected to succeed Samuel J. Kendrick, Monroe township.

At the organization meeting Mr. May was re-elected president and Ira Fisher, vice president. Miss Ethel Brobst was reemployed as secretary-treasurer.

Speakers at the meeting were T. W. Bates, of the Federal Land Bank, and H. J. Briggs, city, a director of the Columbus Production Credit Assn. Mr. Bates spoke on the Federal Farm Loan system.

Mr. Briggs explained to farmers how to secure operating capital loans.

Three bids were submitted. The Fissell Electric Co., city, bid $1,309 and the Hollis Electric Co., Columbus, $1,450.

Red Cross Called

Red Cross workers mustered to care for refugees who found temporary shelter in abandoned school houses and public buildings in Illinois and Indiana. Police departments in Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana manned boats to rescue farmers whose lands became virtual islands as the water swirled across highways and over adjoining lowlands.

Dozens of rural schools were abandoned in Indiana and Illinois.

Warnings of government observers held the loss of life to a minimum and brought thousands of WPA workers to strengthen weakened levees with sandbags and brush. Three hundred WPA workers fought to plug gaps in levees around Hazelton, Ind., 700 in Knox county, Indiana, and 300 more in Fayette county, Illinois.

In Missouri, where flood dangers abated after a week-end of fair weather, 12,000 WPA workers remained on levee duty near St. Francis and 1,200 national guardsmen near Poplar Bluffs.

A cold wave over the central states Monday failed to stem the drainage of week-end rains, and added materially to the suffering of refugees. Higher temperatures today were expected to thaw ice on subsidiary streams.

ROUTINE SEARCH IS STARTED FOR BOY'S MURDERER

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 19 —

(UP) — Routine search for the kidnaper and murderer of Charles Mattson, 10, went forward today, but without the feverish intensity of the early days of the hunt. Local police believed the slayer has taken his life. Federal agents, whose record in clearing up abduction cases is almost perfect, had no comment.

It was believed no clue pointed to the real identity of the bearded man who kidnapped Charles and then beat him to death without collecting the $28,000 ransom he demanded. No order for the arrest of any specific person ever has been issued. All suspects have been released after a routine questioning. The blood stained car found at Everett and at first believed to have been used by the kidnaper, has been turned back to its owner.

Dr. W. W. Mattson, it was learned, last night returned to friends the money they advanced him when he raised the ransom payment and opened negotiations for return of his son.

February is the shortest month. This is fortunate. It gives us less time to worry over our March income tax payment.

SILVER ASSAILS TAYLOR'S PLAN TO MANAGE OHIO

COLUMBUS, Jan. 19 — (UP)

— Harry Silver, former state finance director and a member of Governor Davey's "action" committee, today opposed the recommendation of Tullie V. Taylor, committee chairman, which proposed reformation of the state's administrative function by a "city manager plan."

Taylor's recommendations, to which Silver took exception, proposed a state administrator to take over a portion of the duties the governor now has to bear, the administrator's actions to be overseen by a board, or council.

In answering the earlier recommendation, now in the hands of the governor, Silver said that the proposal for a state administrator was not made a part of the official report of the Sherrill action committee, inasmuch as it was not a part of the Ohio government survey recommendations.
